

I LOVE the Do Not Call Act! I have small children and when the phone rings, it awakens them or interrupts our dinners. They may call during the day when we are not home but they will not leave a msg. They just call back until they get someone to answer. This is annoying and disrespectful. I bet when they are home they hate these calls also! Just like the TV ads stated, it has allowed us to spend more uninterrupted time together as a family and that should come first not the phone!
